PRESIDENT DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER

AT&T Reports Income Equal to $2.75 Share

New York, July 10 (AP)—American Telephone & Telegraph Co. reported today its net income for the second quarter ended June 30 rose to $152,700,000 equal to $2.75 a share from $134,417,598 or $2.66 a share in the corresponding 1955 quarter.

Cleo F. Craig, AT&T president, said the gain in telephones by the Bell system, its operating subsidiary, will approximate 1,550,000 in the first half of 1956. This is more than 25 per cent above the increase in the first six months of 1955. Craig noted a steady increase in the number of homes served by multiple phones instead of only one. So far this year, he said, the increase in additional home telephones is about 40 per cent greater than a year ago at this time.

This increase, together with demand for stepped-up service from party to individual lines, means that millions of new lines will be needed in the future. Craig noted AT&T was selling 250 million dollars of debentures today at competitive bidding to help pay the cost of additions and improvements in service.

For 12 months ended June 30, AT&T had net income of $583,770,000 equal to $10.98 a share compared with $509,680,967 or $10.45 a share in the preceding 12 month period.

The consolidated report of the Bell System shows that for three months to May 31 net income amounted to $191,061,777 or $3.36 a share of the parent company's stock, against $165,304,141 or $3.19 a share in the 1955 quarter. Gross operating revenues were $1,440,352,590 against $1,303,158,859.

For 12 months to May 31, consolidated net income was $720,673,036 or $13.28 a share on the parent company stock, against $615,868,206 or $12.39 a share in the preceding 12 months. Gross was $5,528,025,299, against $4,991,428,704.

In his quarterly report to shareholders, Craig noted laying of the first transatlantic telephone cable was nearing its scheduled completion this fall. The cable ship now is laying the second of two deepsea cables (one for each direction of transmission) between Scotland and Newfoundland. The first was laid last year.

42 Are Dead In Quakes, Tidal Waves

Athens, Greece, July 10 (AP)—Greek sailors combed the rubble ruins of Thira Island today, seeking 20 persons reported missing since death-dealing earthquakes and tidal waves rocked the Aegean islands south of Greece.

Prime Minister Constantine Karamanlis' office announced the casualty total from yesterday's upheaval also included 42 killed and 51 injured. All were in Thira—most in the town of Santorini—except five injured on the neighboring island of Amorgos.

AN EARLIER report that 10 died on Ios appeared incorrect. Thousands of homeless spent the night in the fields. Minor earth shocks continued through the night and into the morning. The Athens observatory said 257 tremors of varying intensity had been recorded.

The first eyewitness reports from Greek reporters on Thira, southernmost island of the Cyclades group and the home of some 10,000 persons, said the first quake lasted 45 seconds and struck just after sunrise.

MOST OF the casualties were women and children. Their men already had left for the fields to cultivate the wine grapes for which the island is noted. The screams and moans of those trapped guided them as they rushed back to devastated Santorini, perched on a cliff above the water.

He looked a little pale and obviously had lost weight. The rough-textured sport shirt he wore was loose around his neck. But his color was better and his step was firmer than when he left Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington a week ago last Saturday.

SERIOUS PROPERTY damage also was reported from Amorgos, 25 miles northeast of Thira. The tidal waters flooded low-lying farmlands on more than half a dozen other farm lands and washed up or wrecked fishing boats, but little other damage was reported from them.

Seconded by a series of quakes in recent years, the Greek government sped aid to the stricken areas.

President's Condition Very Good Vigorous Drive Is Plan of Party

Gettysburg, Pa., July 10 (AP)—President Eisenhower is going to run for a second term.

Republican Senate Leader Knowland disclosed this at a dramatic news conference on the Gettysburg College campus today.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty stood by nodding.

Knowland said the President told a meeting of Republican Congressional leaders he feels in better shape than he did when he made his Feb. 29 announcement that he would seek re-election.

"WE ARE LOOKING forward to a vigorous and active campaign under his leadership," Knowland said.

"Are you telling us," a reporter asked, "that the President is going to keep his hat in the ring?"

"I'm telling you precisely that," Knowland replied.

He added that Eisenhower "left no doubt in anyone's mind" that he will run again despite his June 9 intestinal operation.

EISENHOWER HIMSELF appeared before reporters and photographers before and after an hour and seven minute strategy session with the Capitol Hill leaders.

The fact remains he's in the race," Knowland replied.

The senator said he regarded Eisenhower's comments today as a "continuation" of his Feb. 29 announcement that he would accept renomination.

Knowland also was asked (Continued on Page 18, Col. 3)

Mary Warfield Sister Asks Body Be Exhumed

An order to show cause why the body of Mary Warfield, sister-in-law of David Warfield, New York Shakespearean actor, should not be exhumed from a Saugerties cemetery has been served on Coroner Francis J. McCordle. The order is returnable at Monticello on July 20 before the Supreme Court.

Irene Coleman, sister of deceased, who resides at 2617 Halperin avenue, Bronx, in an accompanying affidavit says she is sure her sister did not die of a coronary ailment as alleged but rather from an attack by someone in the David Warfield household at 135 Central Park West, New York city, where she resided.

She died December 19, 1949 and an autopsy was performed following the death by a Medical Examiner in New York city.

The order to show cause seeks to have the body exhumed from the Saugerties cemetery to ascertain "the true cause of death."

Irene Coleman is represented in the proceeding by Irving B. Lydecker, White Plains, attorney. District Attorney Howard C. St. John appears on the motion for Coroner McCordle.

Accompanying the moving papers are affidavits of Catherine Hallis, a nurse employed in the David Warfield home for Warfield and also John Cavanagh, chauffeur for Mr. and Mrs. David Warfield from 1919 to May 12, 1951. It is alleged there was a dispute in the Warfield home on the evening before the death of Mary Warfield, who was married to Jack Warfield, brother of David Warfield, that dispute being between Mary Warfield and Mrs. David Warfield.

Burdette W. Booth, 23, of Phoenicia was found guilty of driving at an endangering speed in violation of Art. 5, Sect. 56, Sub. 1, of the Motor and Vehicle Law Monday afternoon before Justice of the Peace William P. Malloy of Phoenicia, and fined $25.

Booth was the driver of the convertible which left the road between Phoenicia and Mt. Tremper on June 3, collided with a tree and went over a 45-foot embankment fatally injuring Jack Farrell, 23, also of Phoenicia.

complainant, appeared before the court. On evidence submitted, Justice Malloy found Booth guilty as charged and will recommend to the Motor Vehicle Commissioner that the license of Booth be revoked as well as his registration.

Booth was represented by Thomas Brown of Saugerties, who informed Justice Malloy that he intended to file an appeal from the judgment of the justice's court.

Farrell died 12 hours after the accident from a skull fracture and other injuries. Booth was but slightly injured.

Harriman Calls for Extension of Milk Marketing Order to Upper State Areas

Albany, N. Y., July 10 (AP)—Gov. Harriman called today for prompt extension of the New York Federal-State Milk Marketing Order to take in unregulated areas upstate.

Harriman told a U. S. Agriculture Department hearing that, regardless of what might be done about a New Jersey order, steps to extend the New York order should be "carried forward vigorously."

If extension should be accomplished, Harriman said in prepared testimony, "we will have scored the most significant advance in the interests of our dairy farmers since the 1930s."

The Democratic governor was the leadoff witness at the two-day hearing, second of seven ordered by Agriculture Secretary Ezra Benson. The first hearing, last month, was in Newark, N. J.

The hearings are intended to determine whether:

1. The present New York order should be extended to include 22 additional counties.
2. A separate marketing order should be established for 13 New Jersey counties, possibly including six adjacent New York counties.

son and Gov. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey.

Harriman recalled that the conference had agreed on a separate order for northern New Jersey and changes in the New York order so as to expand the marketing area into unregulated upstate counties and to eliminate Class I-C pricing upstate.

Harriman said the proposed changes in the New York order would bring a "fairer return" to dairymen of the state, although it was "impossible to estimate" how much.

"Whatever the actual amount of the additional income may prove to be," the governor con-

Street Contract Plan to Get Test In Economy Move

A trial plan of letting out contracts for street work on competitive bidding will be tested by the Board of Public Works, Mayor Frederick H. Stang said today following a discussion with aldermen and other city officials Monday night.

Mayor Stang said the BPW will instruct City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan to prepare the contract documents for street repair work on Washington avenue, Lafayette and Emerson streets.

Hallinan, the mayor and three aldermen, Richard V. Roth (R), 12th Ward, William K. Bodenweber, (D), ninth ward and William A. Davis (R), 11th Ward, met in the mayor's office.

Last night's meeting was set into motion July 3 when a committee was named by the Common Council to determine whether the city could gain by contracting for street work instead of having it done by the board of public works.

Tennessee Governor Picked As Keynote by Democrats

Chicago, July 10 (AP)—Gov. Frank G. Clement of Tennessee, regarded as friendly to Adlai E. Stevenson, was selected yesterday to keynote the Democratic National Convention.

The young governor was named by the party's convention arrangements committee after a three-hour meeting and was among 17 or 18 other Democrats considered possible choices.

Clement, a fiery orator and considered a possible vice presidential candidate, did not receive a unanimous vote of the committee, National Chairman Paul M. Butler said.

Butler said the committee's 13 members gave a "full discussion of each of 17 or 18 possible selections." Clement was picked, he said "because of his familiarity with the issues and his capacity to discuss them fluently and capably, and the impression he has made around the country."

"I wouldn't say it (Clement's selection) was unanimous but all feel that a good decision was made. I don't consider it a victory for anyone except the Democratic party."

In Nashville, the 36-year-old governor, informed of his selection to keynote the convention on opening night Aug. 13 in Chicago, said:

"I did not expect this assignment. There were many other capable men who could have done an excellent job. But I'll do the very best I can to represent the Democratic party and the American people."

Although Clement has shied away from publicly committing himself to any Democratic Presidential candidate, he has expressed himself as friendly toward Stevenson's bid for a second nomination.

The selection of Clement met with approval among the party's Presidential aspirants. Stevenson said he was "very glad to hear" of the Tennesseean's appointment and predicted he would be a forceful spokesman for the Democratic party.

New York's Gov. Averell Harriman sent Clement a telegram today that said: "I send you my warm congratulations. You will be a fine and effective key-note."

Hoaxers Face Long Prison Terms for Kidnap Claims

Westbury, N. Y., July 10 (AP)—A longshoreman and a railroad clerk face up to 25 years in prison if convicted of tormenting Mrs. Beatrice Weinberger with a false claim they held her kidnapped baby boy.

The two young men, both unemployed, were to be arraigned today in Ridgewood, Queens, N. Y., where they are charged with attempting to extort $5,000 from the heartbroken mother and giving false information about a kidnapping.

Meanwhile, there was no trace of 5-week-old Peter Weinberger or any solid evidence he is still alive. The blue-eyed baby was snatched from his carriage in the patio of the Weinberger home here last Wednesday.

Last night police sent out a 13-state alarm asking that doctor's hospitals, nurseries and adoption agencies be alerted to look out for the baby. The alarm described his feeding formula, which included five drops of Doxex, a vitamin B12 compound.

Inspector Stuyvesant Pinnell of the Nassau county police said again today that a church or synagogue would be the best medium to deal through from the kidnaper's standpoint.

Churches and synagogues in a large section of Long Island have been keeping their doors

77 Attend First Scout Camp Week

Camp Tri-Mount, the camp of the local Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, opened for its 10th season last week with 77 campers plus leaders of three troops which came into camp with their own leadership.

Those troops attending with their own leadership were Troop 3, sponsored by St. Joseph's Church, Kingston, who had Dr. Clement I. Angstrom serving as their camp scoutmaster; Troop 19 sponsored by the Kingston VFW with their Scoutmaster Carl Wiegert, Sr. in camp with them; and Troop 44 sponsored by the Catskill B.P.O. Elks Lodge, serving as their camp leader. Twenty other Scouts and Explorers from various other troops of the council were formed into a provisional troop under camp staff leadership.

The troops and campers checked into camp Sunday afternoon, were given their medical checkup by Dr. Leeds of Catskill and then took their swimming classification test at the waterfront under the direction of Richard C. Gendreau, Jr., the waterfront director. The same evening a "get acquainted" campfire was held near Kay-Bee Lake in camp. The campfire was opened with a traditional Indian ceremony, the camp staff was introduced by J. Eugene Johnson, camp director, and scout songs were sung to live up to the program. Each troop presented a stunt and briefly reviewed what they hoped to accomplish while in camp for the week. The scout vesper song and a benediction by the camp chaplain, Paul Bodurtha, ended the evening's festivities. During the week in addition to the instruction in all outdoor merit badges and all second and first class scout requirements, a "Scavenger Hunt" was conducted on a troop competition basis. This was a tie between Troop 3 and Troop 44. On Saturday afternoon the traditional waterfront carnival, now called "Aqua Maneuvers" was held at the lake with competitive events for all classes of swimmers. This was won by the provisional troop which took the prize—a watermelon—to their troop site for the division of the winnings.

Forty-seven merit badges were earned during the week as follows: Hiking—John DiMuccio, Paul Hyatt, Ronnie Setera, Paul Colburn, Richard Geuss, John Bruck, Arthur Rifenbury, Robert Cloonan, Richard Duffy, Henry Langley and James Rundle all of Troop 33; Daniel Devine, Donald Trowbridge, Gerald Kelder and George Hoffman all of Troop 19; Swimming—Paul Hyatt, Ronnie Setera, John Bruck and Andrew Angstrom all of Troop 3; William Bodenweber of Troop 6; William Brackett of Troop 32; Sauersties; Chris Hanna, Larry Ross, Lynn Riley and Lewis Stone all of Troop 44. Rowing—John Sheets of Troop 44 and Frank Browne of Troop 3. Life Saving—John Sheets, Allan Oren and Bruce Noel all of Troop 44. Woodworking—Chris Van Crows, Kevin Phoenix, James Sedlak and George Bond all of Troop 44 and Thomas Weisz of Troop 77. New Paltz. First Aid—William Bodenweber of Troop 6 and John Van Demark of Troop 16. Stone Ridge. Nature—Allan Oren, Bruce Noel and Anthony Zinnanti, Jr. all of Troop 44. Forestry—Mark Oren of Troop 44. Cooking—Gerald Kelder of Troop 19. Fishing—George Hoffman, Jr. of Troop 19. Pioneering—Paul Hyatt, Ronnie Setera, John Bruck and Andrew Angstrom all of Troop 3. Canoeing—Andrew Angstrom of Troop 3.

TEN SCOUTS and Explorers plus three adult leaders had conferred on them the ordeal ceremony for the Order of the Arrow. The Order of the Arrow is a nationwide honorary camping fraternity of the Boy Scouts of America. Nominees for this honor are elected by their troop before coming to camp. Those who were initiated this first week were as follows: Dr. Clement I. Angstrom, Andrew Angstrom, Frank Browne, John Secreto and John Zacheo all of Troop 3; Daniel Devine of Troop 19; Anthony Zinnanti, Sr., Ivan Riley, Anthony Zinnanti, Jr., Thomas Hallenbeck, Joseph Cole, Lewis Stone and Anthony Zibella all of Troop 44.

Ellenville Votes On Improvement Of Water System

The village of Ellenville votes today on a referendum to spend $230,000 for improvement and expansion of its water system.

Polls opened at noon in Hunt Memorial Building and voting will continue until 8 p.m.

The project includes erection of a million-gallon standpipe south of the village and the drilling of a well to augment the present reservoir supply.

Other improvements would expand the hydrant system, extend water mains and replace smaller ones with larger facilities.

Ellenville is supplied by water from a reservoir on the mountain through a pipe line much of which is on the surface and subject to damage from slides. The capacity of the reservoir is considered insufficient to supply the village which used a million gallons daily at the peak consumption period. Water will be pumped to the standpipe from the well as the supply used to augment the present supply.

Bobby Jones is the only golfer to win the "Big Four" golf tournament—U. S. Open and Amateur, British Open and Amateur.

Link of Troop 74, New Paltz; and Frank Sanchis of Troop 62 of Shokan. One Scout Larry Ross of Troop 44, completed all requirements for first class scout. Allan Oren of Troop 44 completed all requirements for star scout; William Bodenweber of Troop 6, Kingston completed the requirements for life scout; and John Zacheo of Troop 3 completed all requirements for eagle. All these advancements must now appear before their own troop board to review for final checking and examination before the scouts and explorers may receive their earned ranks.

AT THE CAMPFIRE Saturday night in the ceremonial campfire ring all these advancements and merit badges were recognized as well as those who were inducted into the Order of the Arrow. Nelson L. Carter, activities director of the camp, was master of ceremonies at the campfire and announced that Troop 3 had earned the highest average in the daily inspections. Troop 19 was a close second being only 1/2 point behind Troop 3.

The second week of the season opened Sunday with four troops checking in with their own leadership—Troop 5, sponsored by the Kingston B'nai B'rith with Scoutmaster Elmore Yallum; Troop 6, sponsored by the First Baptist Church, Kingston with Henry P. Eighthmy, serving as Camp Scout master; Troop 22, sponsored by the Kerhonson VFW with Vincent Dunn serving as camp scoutmaster; and Troop 66, sponsored by the West Hurley Fire Company with Garvin Russell serving as their camp scoutmaster. Total number of Scouts and Explorers enjoying this week at camp is 75.

Openings still exist in the third week (July 15-22), fourth week (July 22-28) and the seventh week (August 12-19) of this summer's camping season. All Scouts and Explorers interested in attending their camp this summer are urged to get their reservations into the Scout office without delay.

Program for Aged

Ann Arbor, Mich., July 10 (AP)—New building and research programs point up the federal government's growing interest in the problems of the aged, Dr. Lowell T. Coggeshall, special assistant to the secretary of health, education and welfare, said last night. Dr. Coggeshall said the government during the coming year will make $84 million dollars available for research on chronic diseases and disabilities, the No. 1 problem of the nation's aged. He addressed 600 experts attending the ninth annual conference on the aging at the University of Michigan.

Will Visit Middle East

United Nations, N. Y., July 10 (AP)—UN Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld—now on a European tour—will make a four-day visit to the Middle East later this month, the UN announced today. The secretary general is now in Vienna. His next stop is Belgrade. His original itinerary did not include a visit to the Middle East. The UN announcement said he had found scheduled meetings in Geneva would not take as much time as he had expected, permitting the expansion of his itinerary.

plate (1st 4 1/2 innings) Babe Pinelli (N) plate (2nd 4 1/2 innings), Ed Hurley (A), Art Gore (N) bases; John Flaherty (A) and Bill Jackowski (N), foul lines.

Pierce started effectively striking out Johnny Temple and Frank Robinson, both of Cincinnati, on eight pitches and then making Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals ground out to short on the first pitch.

The American League also went out in order in the first inning. Key Boyer made a spectacular diving catch of Hervey Kuenn's liner to third. Nelson Fox of Chicago White Sox grounded out and Ted Williams, the Boston Red Sox slugger, swung at a third strike.

Both sides got a hit in the second inning, but failed to advance beyond second base.

Key Boyer of the St. Louis Cardinals singled into center to open the inning for the National but caught trying to steal.

Yogi Berra of the New York Yankees singled to center for the American Leaguers after one out.

The National League scored first in the third inning on a single by Temple, scoring his Cincinnati teammate McMillan.

McMillan had drawn a walk and gone to second on a sacrifice bunt by Friend.

Financial and Commercial

New York, July 10 (AP)—The news that President Eisenhower had reaffirmed his intention of running again left the stock market untroubled this afternoon.

The market was up a bit at the start, turning mixed right before the announcement, rose slightly on the news and then backed away again.

There was a brief pickup in trading volume on the rise then turnover slackened as prices settled down again.

Bar Would Cut Security Program List 75 Per Cent

New York, July 9 (AP)—A special committee of the New York City Bar has proposed a 75 per cent reduction in the number of persons covered by the Federal Civilian Security Risk program.

The lawyers said yesterday the program should cover 1½ million persons instead of the present 6 million.

The committee said the program should be limited to civil service and private employees who hold "sensitive" jobs.

Concentrating on clearance for sensitive jobs alone, it said, "would enhance rather than lessen the national security."

The committee's 1½-year study recommended:

1. Doing away with the Attorney General's list of subversive organizations unless it is modified to drop groups defunct more than 10 years and to include only organizations that have been given hearings.
2. Abolition of the Post Security program affecting 800,000 civilians and the International Employee Security program applying to 3,000 Americans working for international organizations.
3. Transfer to nonsensitive posts, rather than suspension or firing, of employees accused under the program, when consistent with the national security.
4. Improved screening procedures to reduce needless charges.
5. Greater right of the accused to confront their accusers.
6. Appointment to the White House staff of an official to supervise the entire civilian personnel security system.

The committee added that "common sense" judgment should be injected into the legal test of a security risk.

HEALTH FOR ALL

The One That Got Away

This summer, when the lucky ones among us will be able to go fishing, "the one that got away" will probably be the most important fish of the season. We take pride in the ones we catch, but we never stop worrying about the fish that escaped us. How big was he anyway?

"The one that got away" can be just as baffling in public health matters as in fishing, particularly when it comes to finding a contagious disease like tuberculosis.

To control a disease like tuberculosis, that is spread from person to person, it is necessary to find people who already have the disease. They must be placed under treatment. This is why the TB associations and health department ask us to have a chest X-ray at least once a year. However, finding a case of TB is only half the battle. What good does it do to find a man with TB if you aren't able to get him to accept treatment until his disease is under control and he no longer can infect his neighbors?

These days people who have no fixed home, no family, and who don't "stay put" show much higher TB rates than the rest of the population. This is also true of inmates of prisons. Health agencies are making special efforts to find the cases of tuberculosis among these groups, but they are faced with some special problems. For example, X-raying of prisoners is done in some communities, but a prisoner may have been released from prison and left the community before a follow-up of the X-ray findings is possible. Similarly, persons without fixed residence who participate in X-ray surveys may disappear before the state of their health can be determined.

The American people can take great pride in each case of tuberculosis found and treated, but it's the one that gets away that keeps us from feeling complacent about our progress against the disease. He can hurt more than our pride—he can destroy his own health and spread TB to others in the community. That is why health agencies are hard at work trying to figure out how to get better cooperation from the homeless in X-ray surveys.

Egypt to Get Subs

Cairo, July 10 (AP)—Egypt is to receive several submarines from abroad within the next few days, the morning newspaper Al Shaab said today. The paper did not specify how many subs Egypt would get or from where. But presumably they are coming from the Soviet Bloc as part of the arms-for cotton deal Egypt and Czechoslovakia made last year.

IT CAN BE CORRECTED

When local government goes into business, on the usual tax-free basis, taxpaying private industry shies away.

That is the moral of an editorial in the Sacramento, California, Union.

The Union recently discussed the area's inability to attract more large industry. It then heard from a reader, a local housewife, who gave a compelling reason for this inability. The Union explained her views in these words: "She points out that Sacramento owns its own water system, and that property has been taken off the tax rolls; that Sacramento owns its own bus system, and that property has been taken off the tax rolls; that Sacramento is in the off-street parking business, and that property has been taken off the tax rolls; finally, the greater metropolitan area is in the electric energy business . . . and that property has been taken off the tax rolls."

You need not be an economist to figure out that when property is taken off the tax rolls in this fashion, the taxes on all remaining property must be higher to offset the loss. In addition, government business undertakings, on any level of government, very often run at deficits—and that further worsens the tax picture. So it's no wonder that industry takes a dim view of areas and communities where government-in-business is rampant, and the tax burden reflects that.

The Union observed that the situation "can be corrected!" The implication is clear. It can be corrected, everywhere and anywhere, by getting government out of business—to the enduring benefit of everyone except some bureaucrats.

FAMILY FARMING

The family-size farm, which pessimists have been maintaining is gradually disappearing from America, actually is in a pretty solid position, according to recent census figures.

Right now, family groups of farm workers total 77 per cent of the agricultural labor force—a slightly higher percentage than in 1910, and about the same proportion as during the depression, when many city dwellers moved back to family farms.

The total number of farm family workers has dropped about one-third since 1910. The number of farms has dropped similarly, and the average size of a farm has gone up from 140 acres in 1910 to about 215 acres now. But these facts are signs of the new efficiency — of machinery doing more of the hard labor, of better seed and scientific methods, of more general knowledge about agriculture put to good use by the farmer.

A single family can farm more acres, produce more crops, raise more animals and run a bigger farm "business" than was possible in past years. But the family operation is still the backbone of American agriculture, which keeps rural life in this country just as sound and stable as it ever was.

The postmaster general says that in the five minutes it takes to walk to the corner and drop a letter in the box, the deficit of the Post Office Department goes up $5,000. Gives a person the feeling he should write a lot more letters to be worth it.

STATE OF SMALL BUSINESS

You've no doubt heard it said that small business is in a bad way these days.

A report from the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, based on government figures, tells a very different story.

In the last year corporations with assets of less than $250,000 have shown the greatest increase in profit margins. They did far better than the average for corporations of all sizes. It is true that business failures have increased since 1950. However, the number of new corporations shows a greater increase—36 per cent against 24 per cent.

So the Chamber asks this apt question: If the pessimistic reports about small business were all true, how could such large numbers of new businesses spring up?

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
HERBERT HOOVER, JR.

The physical facilities of men in public office seem to bother political opponents more these days than seem to be warranted by the facts of life. For instance, I note this paragraph in "The New York Times":

"His (Herbert Hoover, Jr.) shyness derives from two disconnected events. Deafened as a boy, Mr. Hoover must depend on a hearing aid. This puts a halter on easy conversation."

I have been conversing with this man these past 20 years or more and never have I noted that the use of a hearing aid lessened the sharpness of his mind or his capacity for wit and humor. Bernard Baruch and Charles Edison employ hearing aids which have apparently not interfered with their careers any more than wearing glasses prevents a man from reading or writing, from being a philosopher or a banker or a professor.

It used to be that when a gang wanted to smear a man, they whispered about his sex morals as was done to Woodrow Wilson and Warren G. Harding; then it became fashionable to describe a man as a reactionary or a Fascist as was done to Herbert Hoover, Senior. Then men were attacked for being soft on Communists which has been said about both Harry Truman and Dwight Eisenhower. Now, it is the fashion to discover a physical defect and rake a man over the coals for that, although I must say that the rakers are not themselves anything like Adonis and some of them probably suffer from ulcers or halitosis.

It would appear that Herbert Hoover, Jr., has displeased those guardians of the State Department who look back to the halcyon days of Dean Acheson as the time when ideas were batted about at all levels and some were even activated, to use such parlance. Well, those were wonderful days and we are today paying a heavy price for the luxury of letting free minds play endlessly with possibilities and probabilities but avoiding realities, resulting, when the score is added up, in a series of difficulties which are proving very costly.

Thus, "The New York Times" article says:

"His warmest admirers do not credit Mr. Hoover with imagination or sureness of touch in dealing with political problems. He is not an idea man, as Dean Acheson was in the same job. His main strength lies in administration, and in carrying out policies once they have been decided."

The job for which the government hired Herbert Hoover, Jr., is administration of a sprawling, uncoordinated department in charge of the very serious business of foreign relations. So far as a box score can be arranged, Herbert Hoover, Jr., has not made more errors than President Eisenhower or Secretary Dulles, it being taken for granted that changes are so rapid today that it is not always possible to meet each situation as was possible perhaps in the time of Talleyrand and Castlereagh when statesmen knew each other and knew what they were talking about.

Today, suddenly a Khrushchev or a Nasser appears on the scene and all the presumptions of a month ago are no longer in focus at all. Also, it is necessary to walk warily for if we are not actually on the brink of the horrible atomic war, we are never too far away from it.

Take Nasser as an example. It is believed by some experts on Egypt that until about a week ago, Nasser was talking under a terrific pressure from intensive nationalists. Now that he has become President after a one-candidate election, it is believed that he is likely to be more malleable, if that is the word. At any rate, he is more likely, these people believe, not to want to drive the United States to an utterly antagonistic position.

On the other hand, you never can tell and unless this country means to make war over the Middle East situation, it is wisest to wait a while longer to see just what develops. The argument against that is that we waited too long about China in the days of General Marshall and the Communists conquered the country.

Final decisions concerning American policy in the Eisenhower Administration are not made in the State Department. They are made in the National Security Council and the White House. But the State Department does not need competent and constructive administration and that Herbert Hoover, Jr., can give it.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.
UNLOCKED DOORS

We have mentioned before that more than half of all hospital beds are occupied by the mentally ill. This is an appalling state of affairs and one to which we must not close our eyes. It really adds up to the fact that any writer on health should devote half his articles to the mentally ill. While I do not wish to do this I have come across an article, in the Canadian Doctor, entitled "Unlocked Doors for the Mentally Confined," which I would like to pass on to my readers.

On the morning of November 23, 1954, a thick brown door in a large sprawling building near Croydon, England, was opened. It was a simple act without ceremonies, speeches or bunting—yet it symbolized an historic step in handling patients in mental hospitals. The door was in B-2 ward of Warringham Park Hospital. When the door was opened, the world had its first major public mental hospital without any locked doors.

Dr. T. Percy Rees, a tall, handsome, white-haired psychiatrist whose revolutionary ideas led to the unlocking of the door in B-2—a ward for seriously disturbed patients—is one of the modern pioneers in the care of the mentally ill. In the 20 years Dr. Rees has been medical superintendent of the hospital, he has introduced so many major innovations that the hospital has become the first port of call for psychiatrists who visit Britain. He lets patients help decide certain hospital policies, allows them to visit nearby towns once a week on their own, but, more importantly, he has developed a method of helping patients cure themselves by giving them responsibilities toward other patients who are sicker than they.

Fortunately, Dr. Rees is a prophet with honor in his own land, and in the United States, Canada and Europe his ideas are becoming accepted in an increasing number of mental hospitals. Since the opening of the doors and the front gate of Warringham Park, fewer patients have run away and not a single patient has committed suicide. Better still, Warringham Park has an annual discharge rate of 80 per cent, as against Britain's national average of 70 per cent, although it is a public hospital and gets a high ratio of difficult-to-cure cases of schizophrenia. Dr. Rees has achieved these results with a modest budget, a treatment staff of only 135 persons, including 12 doctors and nurses and assistants, and only the usual reliance on individual and group psychotherapy, plus shock treatment. The new tranquilizing drugs are little used.

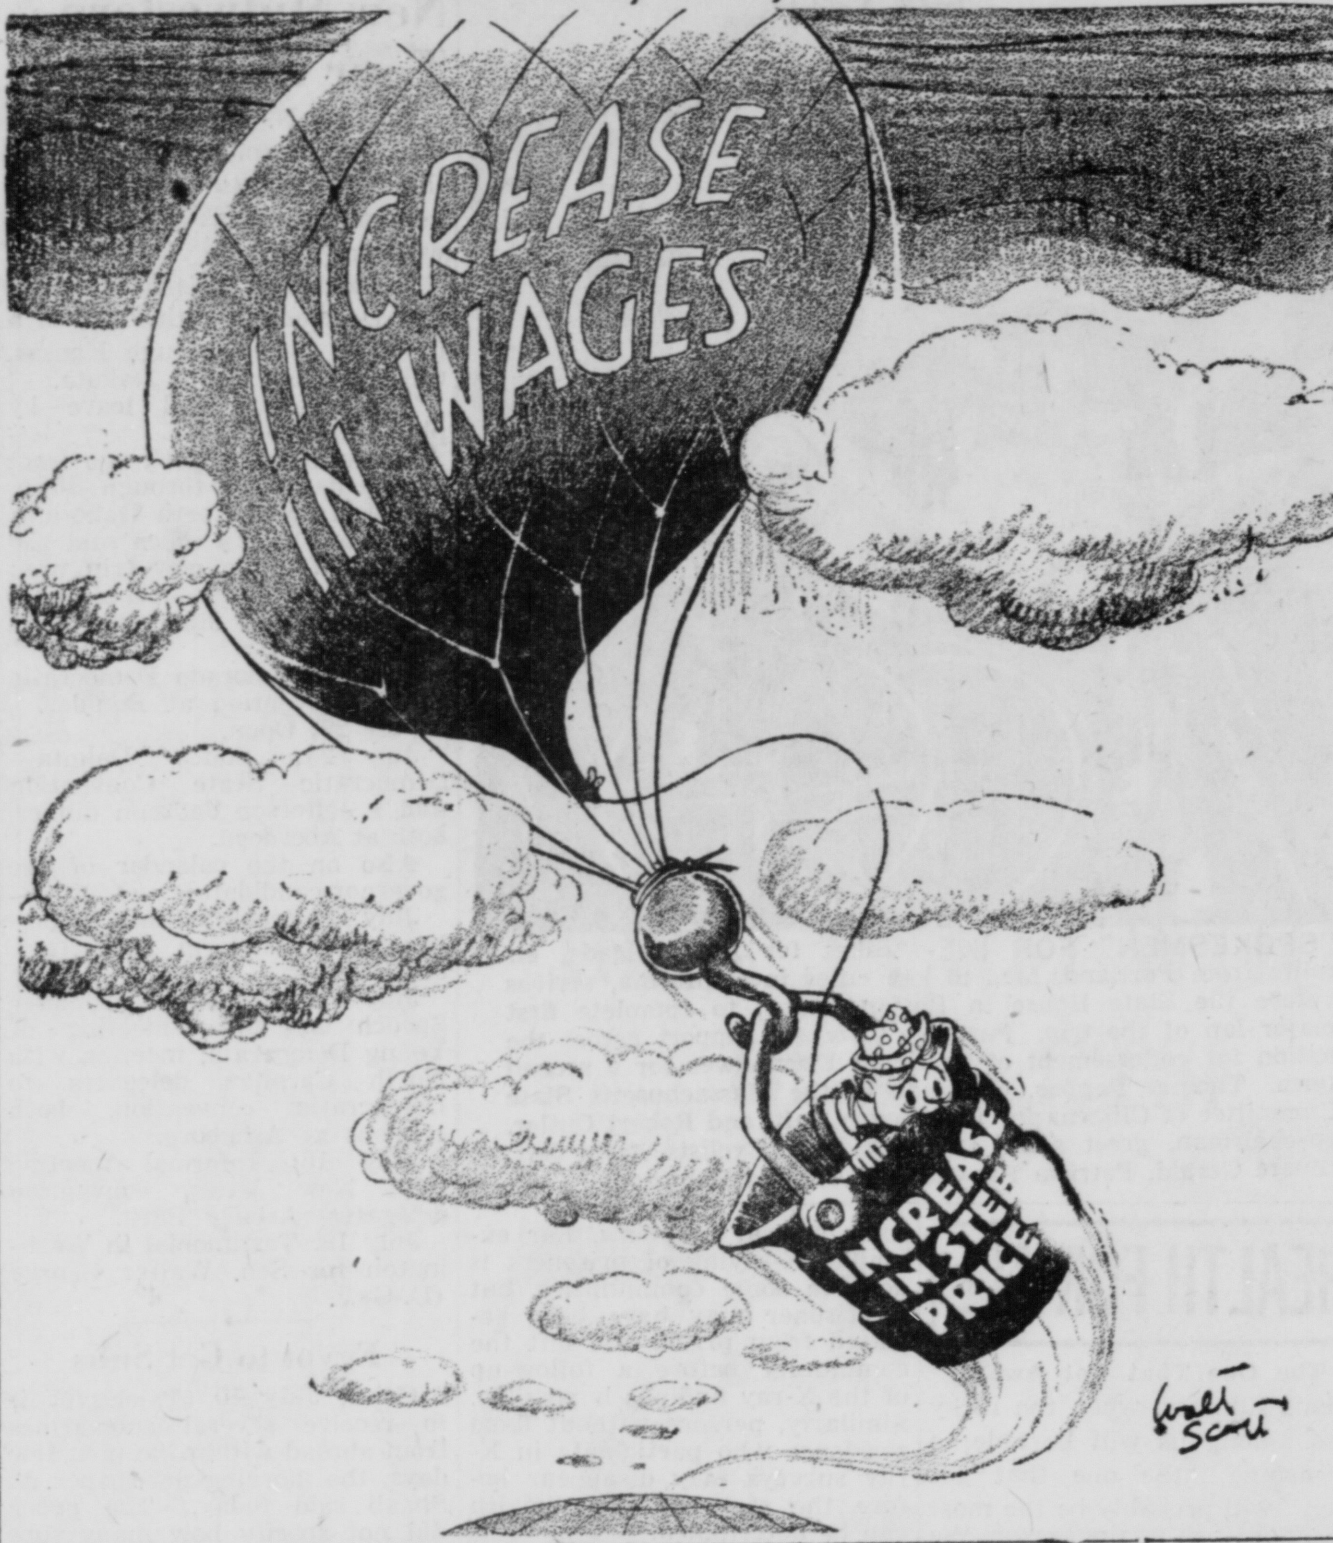

Dr. Rees has a large, intricately shaped key. "In more sense than one," he says, "this is the key to the problem. It was given me when I took over here in 1935 and represents the highest symbol of authority in the mental hospital. The ordinary nurses here used to have a key that could give any of our door locks a single turn. The junior doctors and senior nurses have keys that could lock the patients and nurses in the wards by giving the locks two turns. But with this magic key I could go around after all the patients and staff and lock in the whole lot of them. Did you ever hear of such nonsense. Presumably, what the mental hospitals needed was not good doctors or nurses but crafty locksmiths."

And Away They All Go

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington—(NEA) — Close students of postwar Polish Communist affairs have seen something like the recent Poznan popular uprising in the making for some months.

A clear picture of what has been going on behind the Polish curtain was obtained by the simple intelligence technique of having someone read all the Polish newspapers and then putting together bits and pieces of information.

Thus "News From Behind the Iron Curtain," monthly publication of Free Europe Committee, of which ex-Ambassador Joseph C. Grew is chairman—gave a detailed report on "Poland in Ferment" last March.

The month before it gave an appraisal of "The Polish Grain Balance." It showed that production within the present boundaries of Poland had dropped from 13 million long tons in 1938 to 12 million in 1949 and 10 million in 1953.

The 1950-55 six-year plan called for production of 14.5 million tons. But even with perfect weather and a bumper crop in 1955, production was only 12 million tons. Here was an obviously worsening situation that today makes the Poznan workers' demonstrations for more bread understandable.

THESE TWO FORECASTS attracted little attention when first made. They were considered wishful thinking. But the warning was on the wall for any who could read.

Most interesting aspect of the March "Poland in Ferment" analysis was its origin. The first signs of unrest were detected among the intellectuals. Writers, artists and philosophers began to question Communist party edicts in 1953.

Up to then, the postwar years had been marked by a tremendous rebuilding effort. Poland's from Germany—had to be resettled. This contributed to national fervor and pride. Then the low living standard, oppression and hardships began to be felt.

"Poland, along with Czechoslovakia, was assigned a leading role in competing with the west," says the report. "To prepare the population for increased contacts with foreigners, a less rigid ideological line was required."

This was . . . "synchronized with the Polish regime's repatriation campaign." It was addressed to Poles overseas.

"The Polish party apparently felt it could afford to gamble that an atmosphere of controversy would not restore to the nation a sense of vigor, it would also tend to create among the people a sense of solidarity with the regime."

But discussion and controversy went much further than the Polish Communists intended. The debate which started in intellectual circles in 1954 took a dangerous turn in 1955.

Complaints about mismanagement of justice appeared in the Polish press throughout the year. There was criticism of unjust fines and penalties inflicted on the "kulaks"—the private farmers. Large scale arrests were said to serve no useful purpose and to endanger agricultural production.

THE POLISH MINISTRY of Justice was accused of being too concerned with political matters and of ignoring common crimes, even though it handed out prison sentences too easily.

Last fall the Polish Communist party attempted to redefine its ideological position and establish a new line. There was a larger measure of repression.

But having once sampled the liberties of free press, free speech and free criticism, the taste lingered in the mouths of the people. Seizing the opportunity offered by the Poznan trade fair, with numbers of western Europeans in the city, the populace apparently exploded by spontaneous combustion in an unexplained demonstration that turned into revolt. "Imperialist" agitators had nothing to do with it, as Communist spokesmen attempt to make out.

The question now is how the Polish government will meet this new threat. Will it be a return to repression of the Stalinist era? Or will there be further, much-needed reforms?

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Yuma, Ariz., July 9—In territorial days, Arizona kept her convicts in a 'dobe prison' in Yuma designed as much to inflict suffering as to restrain men and women who fell foul of the law. In 1909, the prison was transferred to Florence and there is a superstition that this was a humane act because Yuma is one of the hottest populated places in the United States.

However free people in Yuma still work for the boundless fields of cotton, cantaloupe, lettuce, carrots and corn, and Florence is almost as hot.

By now, the new prison is dilapidated and, between momentary "reforms," some employes filch petty possessions of victims who are unable to resist and wise not even to protest. Between "reforms," some employes drive out with hams, eggs, milk and steaks from the prison farm. The convict's life is wretched beyond description in most of our prisons, though we dwell on the squalor and hopelessness of camps of the Soviet Union, Nazi Germany and Devil's Island.

Yuma prison was built in 1875. It is now a historical relic with a museum which once was the mess hall, used as a chapel on Sundays.

Most of the old outside wall has vanished, for 'dobe' is only baked mud and some buildings oozed away as silt in a flood in 1916. There is a tower of stone masonry called the tank about 30 yards from the remnant of the old front gate, bearing a notice in amateur black letters on yellow boards, signed by a caretaker who seems to have studied spelling in the progressive school.

The sign says guards armed with rifles and a Gatling gun, the primitive machine-gun, manned the tank and killed "many" prisoners who tried to run away. The tone seems exultant, but that may be a trick of my imagination. The relics, including the usual irrelevant miscellany, and an old faro deck with some trimmed cards, snake-rattles, spurs and a decrepit roulette wheel, are all of a period well this side of the Civil War.

To the generation of our second and Korean wars they will seem encrusted with antiquity but there was a Remington typewriter, retrieved from the backroom of the old Western Union office, of the same model that I learned on with the UP in 1913. So the gruesome brutality of Yuma prison lasted well into the span of many Americans who are still present and voting and are likely to shudder at the horrors of Lavrenti Beria's compounds in Siberia.

The prisoners had no "industries" to distract them wherein, however, they were little worse off than the convicts in Carson, Nev., whose sole jobs a few years ago were the manufacture of a few thousand license plates,

Law to Permit Eisenhower A Third Term Is Discussed

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 10—Because there is such a widespread assumption, even among Democrats, that President Eisenhower will be elected for a second term, there has begun lately some discussion as to whether or not the Constitution should be amended to permit him to run for a third term.

This is not as far away as it might seem. The present trend of discussion on Capitol Hill points to some kind of world crisis for 1960. Presumably by then the Soviet government will have caught up with America in air power and in nuclear weapons, and it could conceivably happen that there would be a demand from the American people that Ike should continue on in the White House.

THE TWENTY-SECOND amendment, which was declared effective on Feb. 26, 1951, prevents Mr. Eisenhower from becoming a candidate for a third term, but it does not disqualify Harry S. Truman because the language specifically exempted the incumbent President.

As long as Mr. Truman is eligible, there are those who feel that Mr. Eisenhower should also be. The concession to exempt Mr. Truman was made largely to win Democratic support in Congress, inasmuch as two-thirds vote of both Houses of Congress was required. But such a personal exception violates the principle of the anti-third-term amendment itself and the only way to equalize this is to permit one Republican as well as one Democrat to be eligible for a third term. For at the time the amendment was submitted, the Republican party was out of power.

If the Constitution were to be amended, moreover, the process would have to start in 1957. It took from March, 1947, to February, 1951, to get the twenty-second amendment ratified by three-fourths of the states. If an amendment were proposed in the 1957 session of Congress, it would probably be 1959 before final action would be taken by the states.

NATURALLY there would be opposition from some Democrats who fear Ike's vote-getting powers, but it would hardly be justified because the purpose of the amendment would merely be to equalize an unequal situation between the major parties. Mr. Truman himself probably would be the first to endorse the idea, for it will be recalled, it was Gen. Eisenhower's magnanimity and friendliness to the then President which caused him to refrain from running against Mr. Truman in the 1948 contest. He might have won. The story is told that Mr. Truman at Potsdam in 1945 told the victorious American Commander-in-Chief of Allied Forces in Europe that there was no honor which he would not help the general to attain. It was then that Ike expressed his unwillingness to run for the Presidency in 1948, at the time of the nominating conventions in 1960, Ike would be only 69 and, if elected, he would be 70 at his third inauguration. But Mr. Truman is 71 and is eligible. Chancellor Adenauer is 80 and going strong. Winston Churchill was 79 when he withdrew from the Prime Minister's portfolio. In this era of vitamins and advances in medical care, 70 is not considered a mark of inelegibility for active service in many lines of business. Each case is individual. The prognosis of Ike's doctors is that, with the excellent care given him in the White House, he may live on considerably beyond his second term.

THE AMERICAN people are never much concerned about the age of their presidents—nor have they in the past been impressed with the argument that a Chief Executive has to have the physique or the health of an athlete or that he has to spend every minute of his waking hours on the job. There have been some "full time" Presidents—and Harry Truman was one of them—who didn't require more than a few minutes in which to make some of the gravest errors that have been committed in the Presidency. The true story of the influence of the Truman staff on the then President has never been told. It isn't the time that a President takes to study a situation or to decide on it which counts but the amount of acumen and judgment he brings to the job in the first place.

If it is his second term keeps the nation at peace and is able to maintain a deterrent force sufficiently large to prevent any other nation from starting a war, the chances are that in 1960 there will be a considerable demand to have him continue in office. It may be, therefore, that the nation's principal concern in another year or so will be whether Ike will be eligible to run for a third term. Because of his devotion to public service, it can be assumed that he himself will not initiate retirement as long as he feels able to serve the American people.

which were the cells for women. They took the glare of the Yuma sun much of the day. There was no trace of any sanitary apparatus and a sign said that Pearl Hart, a stage-coach robber, served five years there.

A lunger in Cell 5 of the T-B yard had left a Testament which the caretaker had preserved on a large board over the main block:

"Have you had a kindness shown, 'Twas not yours for you alone. Pass it on."

Let it travel down the years, Let it wipe another's tears, Till in heaven the deed appears, Pass it on."

The grave-yard, unlike boothill at tombstone, attempts no chichi or showmanship. Men died or were shot from the tank and put underground beneath rounded and eroded heaps. There are a few meaningless shingleboards.

Here lie human beings who died amid desolation which did not, however, completely suppress the spark of yearning, hope and beauty. In all of them it flickers on today in exquisite scarves and a portrait of Christ with mournful eyes which seem to open under fixed gaze framed in an intricate border of crosses interlaced.

Designs in Religion
Now at Art Gallery

Several designs in the field of religion are being shown at the Woodstock Art Gallery in the center of the village. They are a part of the exhibition "Art in Our Living."

Architectural plans for the Parish House of Fair Street Reformed Church and the St. Gregory's Episcopal Church of Woodstock together with small models make an interesting display. They were designed by William Henry Van Benschoten.

There is also a photograph of a mural painted by B. Sturtevant Gardner in Bishop Morris Hall of the Episcopal Cathedral of St. Luke in Ancon, Panama Canal Zone. It is entitled "St. Paul on a Storm Tossed Ship."

The exhibition will remain through July 12th.

Jaycees Lead Move
For Return of Buses

Tallahassee, Fla., July 10 (AP)—The Tallahassee Junior Chamber of Commerce has started a move to get city buses rolling again.

The Jaycees called upon the Cities Transit Co., yesterday to resume bus operations on a segregated basis, and asked other civic clubs to make similar requests.

The transit firm suspended operations July 1 because of economic losses resulting from a boycott by Negro riders.

The Jaycees said bus transportation should not be denied white citizens in a city the size of Tallahassee because Negroes refuse to ride. Tallahassee has a population of about 40,000.

There seem to be 12 tricks for the taking in today's hand: four spades, four diamonds, two hearts, and two clubs. The trouble is that South can't reach both of dummy's tricks the jack of spades or the king of clubs to reach the dummy, and either play costs a trick.

Strange as it seems, South's best play for 12 tricks is to overtake both of these cards.

South wins the first diamond, overtakes the king of clubs with dummy's ace, and leads the jack of clubs. East might cause trouble by refusing the trick, but South would still make the slam by careful play. Assume that East takes the queen of clubs and returns a diamond.

Declarer runs the diamonds, discarding a heart from dummy. He next cashes the ace and queen of spades, after which he overtakes the jack of spades with dummy's king. He would be safe now if the spades were 3-3, since dummy's last spade would be good.

When the spades fail to drop, South cashes dummy's ten of clubs, hoping that the nine of clubs will fall. Once more South is disappointed, but not for long.

West has already discarded ♣ 10. If West discards another heart, South makes the last three tricks in his own hand. If West, instead, discards his last spade, dummy's lowly five of spades becomes good. Either way, South gets his all-important 12th trick.

Fresh Lemons Tenderize Veal Dish Deliciously

BEACHSIDE APPETITES need something like sliced veal, cooked with just the right ingredients, to satisfy them.

By GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Food and Markets Editor

A California dinner cooked outdoors on the beach—that was an oceanside party we'll never forget.

Young John Ballantine of Portuguese Bend Club, not far from Los Angeles, did the honors.

That's lemon-growing country. So of course John's Veal Continental, cooked over the coals, had the zest of lemon slices in it. They added fresh and subtle flavor.

After a swim in the Pacific the bubbling dish seemed about the best thing we ever ate.

Veal Continental (Serves 4 to 6)

Four to six serving size pieces of sliced veal, 1/4 cup flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, few grains cayenne pepper, 1/8 teaspoon black pepper, 4 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1/4 cup finely chopped onion, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 cup meat broth or bouillon cube dissolved in 1 cup of hot water, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, 1/4 teaspoon oregano, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1 lemon, cut in thin slices, 1 2-ounce can sliced mushrooms, 1/2 cup cream.

Pound meat well on both sides until about 1/4 inch thick. Put flour, salt, cayenne pepper and black pepper in paper bag, shake veal in mixture. Melt butter in large skillet. Brown veal on both sides and remove to platter. Brown onions. Make sauce by adding flour, broth, lemon juice, oregano and sugar. Cook until slightly thickened. Return veal to skillet, cover tightly, and simmer in sauce until tender. Add lemon slices just before serving.

To serve: place veal on serving plate; add mushrooms and cream to sauce and heat. Spoon over each piece of meat.

Lemon Ice Cream with Peaches

One and one-half cups sugar, 2 eggs, separated, 1/3 cup fresh lemon juice, 2 cups heavy cream, whipped, 2 teaspoons grated lemon peel, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 3 to 4 peaches, peeled and sliced.

Mix 1 1/4 cups sugar with egg yolks and beat well. Add lemon juice and beat one minute longer. Beat egg whites until they hold in soft peaks. Gradually beat in remaining 1/4 cup sugar. Fold whites into lemon mixture.

Fold in whipped cream, grated lemon peel and salt. Pour into refrigerator trays and freeze until firm. Serve in sherbet glasses lined with fresh peach slices. Sprinkle sliced peaches with lemon juice to keep the color bright.

TOMORROW'S DINNER:

Veal Continental, charcoal baked potatoes, orange and onion salad, heated crisp rolls, butter or margarine, or French bread, lemon ice cream with peaches, coffee, tea, milk.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

Capt. Thomas Noble of Abeel street, who for 46 years worked in the New York Harbor, was a recent visitor. I asked him if he remembered the Hudson-Fulton celebration of 1909. He said at the time he was in the Naval Militia, and piloted a 33-foot steam launch. During the famous Orville Wright flying machine demonstration, it was Capt. Noble's job to follow Orville Wright from 96th street and North river to Riverside Drive, and watch Wright, so that if Wright fell in the water to pull him out. Of course, as history knows today, the flight became a world famous achievement. During World War 1, Mr. Noble was captain of the George Tice, which took ammunition to the steam freighter, Mt. Blanc. The Mt. Blanc unfortunately took it to Halifax where in a fog the entire ship blew up causing a disaster to the city and harbor. Captain Noble did not come to talk about his experiences of a half a century but to show me large splendid photos of the Hudson river and Rondout creek, as reprinted by Pennington Studios. Still another job Captain Noble did during the mammoth Hudson Fulton celebration was to keep the 110th street Official Landing clear for the naval parade as there were many private steamers and yachts all around the landing.

One of the pictures Capt. Noble showed me looked like a photo of an old advertisement of the Mary Powell of many years ago. He had a fine photo of the spring freshet and ice being jammed in the Rondout creek, with such side-wheelers as the famous Ice-King, the old Norwich, the Oswego, and the S. O. Pierce, all well known tug-boats, and gone but not forgotten D. and H. boats, all jammed together. That is a picture I would like for my album. I understand copies of it can be had through Penningtons.

There is a large photo of the Cornell Ice House back in the 1920's which supplied ice to tug boats. The power house can also be seen which supplied power for all our trolley cars. An excellent 1913 photo of the Skillypot at Sleighsburch, and steamer William F. Romer. Another photo of the upper company office building and the lower company office building, with the D & H Canal boats all around the Rondout creek, which was a busy place at that time. The M. Martin steamer in our water again surrounded by the old canal boats, all familiar scenes of the gay 1890's. Old Norwich, another picture with the canal boats. That is what built up Rondout, those canal boats and their family needs, for families lived on them and bought in Rondout stores. It must have been quite a problem, parking a canal boat in the Rondout creek in those days perhaps even worse than the trials and tribulations of the one-way traffic uptown.

Speaking of boats, Joe Van Buren, caretaker of Kingston Library, brought me an item, Miss Schaeffer, the librarian, found in an old book. It is a time-table of the Mary Powell. Although no date is given, it mentions making connections with 'horse cars and stage lines' and that takes it way back. I see it took one full hour to go from Rondout to Poughkeepsie, and then another hour to Newburgh. Do not think that there are no boats in the river and creek today. Those gay little private cruisers are all over, and on the Hudson I saw a handsome naval vessel today. Every day one still sees, tugs pulling barges, and big ocean oil-lighters.

There were 463,500 miles of natural gas pipeline in the United States at the beginning of 1956.

And to think WE helped buy the mat!

Part of our tax money is used by the Government to subsidize TVA and other public power agencies. Our money is being used to entice our industry away from us by offering electricity to these industries below its real cost! Talk about adding insult to injury! That's what comes from having Government in the power business.

Violin Worth $6,500

New Britain, Conn., July 10 (P)—Richard Casella, says a New York musical instrument manufacturer has appraised at $6,500 a violin purchased for $4 by his father-in-law, Joseph Renkar, who works in Springfield, Mass., as a drop forger, bought the violin at an auction in New Haven two months ago, the son-in-law disclosed yesterday. He described it as a Joseph Guarnerius violin made in 1731.

Lehman Not Sure He Wants to Run

New York, July 10 (P)—Sen. Herbert H. Lehman (D.-Lib.-N. Y.) says he hasn't made up his mind whether to be a candidate for re-election this year.

The senator said yesterday that before deciding there are a lot of things he would like to take over with Mrs. Lehman.

"I desire to see a lot more of my family and to do a great many things I have always wanted to do but have not had time for," he said. "I would like to do more traveling, some writing and lecturing."

Lehman said he set no target date for reaching a decision, but that it will be made in ample time for the state Democratic Convention, which meets Sept. 10, to pick a substitute if he decides to retire.

The senator, 78, has declined to serve on the Platform Committee of the Democratic National Convention. He told Carmine DeSapio, New York Democratic national committeeman, that he found service on this committee very taxing to his strength in 1952. But, he said, this action had nothing to do with his delay in deciding whether to run for re-election.

Lehman has engaged in nine state-wide campaigns as a candidate. The first was in 1928 when he ran for lieutenant governor, as the running mate of Franklin D. Roosevelt. The last was in 1950 when he was elected to his present Senate term.

CHARWOMAN FROM LITHUANIA

A charwoman working in a prominent New York City office building is moving in the best economic circles. She is a stockholder in the three billion dollar international financial institution that occupies part of the space in the skyscraper where she works.

She came to America from Lithuania. Like so many of her confreres, she is a hard-working, diligent and thrifty person. When she arrived here, she was surrounded by every conceivable handicap—language barriers, no job, unfamiliarity with social customs and a stranger to this country's economic system.

Her perseverance landed her a job as a charwoman. She soon started to save money. She opened an account with a neighborhood savings bank that was paying (in 1940) 2% annual interest. She saved 20% of her earnings and all of the bonuses. When, during World War II, interest was 1½% and her command of the English language was rather adequate, she started asking questions.

One night she inquired if she could get more than 1½% on her savings. I told her she could. At that time she had almost $2,000 saved. When she learned that she could become a part-owner in the very institution for which she worked, she was dumbfounded. Nothing like that could ever happen in Lithuania. At first she was skeptical of such truth.

But she bought five shares of $100 par common stock in the bank where she worked. The certificate arrived with her name inscribed upon it. Then, in a few weeks, a dividend check arrived. All of these events carried romance. In her heart she felt like a youngster enjoying for the first time the pleasures of a holiday.

Then later on her shares were split, 5 for 1. And now she owns 25 shares. Their value has doubled and dividends are up about 80%. Thrift, saving and investment have led her into associations that she could not have dreamed about when she came here.

Every year she puts on her best bib and tucker and attends the annual stockholders' meeting. She hobnobs often at those gatherings with some of the biggest bankers and industrialists in America. This meeting is a great social event in her life. She is a champion of the free enterprise system.

AMERICA NEEDS 10,000,000 more just like her. Who might they be?

1) Household maids and cooks. There are tens of thousands of hard-working and thrifty servants in the United States employed in homes of the middle and upper classes who would take greater interest in this country if some of their savings went into the best common stocks.

2) That great army of workers whose economic vision needs to be deepened and broadened. Owning a value that carries national and international significance can give a big lift to many whose tasks are menial and whose life is drab.

3) Young people in their teens who, encouraged to save money from their allowances or from part-time work, would be thrilled to become possessors of some of the basic wealth that gives 165,000,000 persons the highest standard of living in the world.

Pride of possession can become the springboard of a career of ambition and achievement. It would be a great thing for our country if more of our economically sophisticated stockholders would become part-time missionaries carrying the good news of equity ownership to those who may never hear about it otherwise.

Many readers of these lines have at their very doorstep potential stockholders like the charwomen from Lithuania.

Clayton Wanted In Portsmouth

James R. Clayton, 18, of 25 East Union street, who was arrested here July 1 on charges of burglary, first degree and disorderly conduct, is wanted in Portsmouth, Va., on an attempted armed robbery charge, authorities said Monday.

Local police charge that Clayton entered a house on Highland avenue, and was picked up at Hasbrouck and Delaware avenues, after he was apparently frightened and ran out of the house.

A police report at 2:30 a. m., July 1, noted that Richard Shults, of 60 Highland avenue, reported that an unknown person had awakened Mrs. Shults "by touching her hand."

MRS. SHULTS called to her husband, the report said, and the intruder ran down stairs and out a rear door.

Entrance to the house police said, had apparently been gained by the forcing of a cellar window.

Clayton has been held for the grand jury on the burglary charge, and it was indicated that extradition will be considered when that charge is disposed of here. A warrant was due to be filed at sheriff's office.

THE UP-TO-DATE Company's store was closed all day Tuesday, July 10 to readjust and mark down stocks.

2-Year Contract Limit Is Asked At ANG Session

Toronto, Ont., July 10 (AP)—The American Newspaper Guild's annual convention has been asked to authorize a two-year limit on all new contracts except in special cases approved by the union's international executive board.

DELEGATES WILL decide on the proposal during the remaining four days of the convention. It was made at the opening session yesterday by William J. Farson, executive vice-president on behalf of the Guild's officers. The convention begins consideration of committee reports today.

THE GUILD'S constitution would have to be amended under the proposal to limit long-term contracts with management.

Farson said the amendment would assure Guild locals "the opportunity to bargain regularly for a fair share of the industry's increased income."

The newspaper industry, Farson said, reported an all-time 1955 high in advertising revenue of $3,070,000,000, a figure which he said was 13.9 per cent above the previous high in 1954.

AT THE SAME time, the guild officer said, "too many of our members were getting increases of $2 or less in the second year of two-year contracts. If the present effort of some publishers to extend contracts even beyond a two-year term is successful, it will negate our ability to correct this situation."

Farson asked the more than 200 delegates to urge locals to push the Guild's organizing program with increased vigor.

HE CHARGED most publishers are increasing their resistance to organizing and that the National Labor Relations Board has been delivering decisions about organizing that the Guild considers unfavorable.

Charles A. Perlik Jr., secretary-treasurer, said the Guild has reduced a $26,360 deficit at the start of the fiscal year to $7,265.

Perlik reported the Guild has amassed more than $250,000 in its "defense fund" for protection in strikes and lockouts and in future collective bargaining. The goal is a million dollars.

Perlik also said membership has increased from 27,020 to 28,167 in the past year.

Resettled Refugees

Taipei, Formosa (AP)—The Free China Relief Assn. reports it has helped resettle 52,88 refugees on Formosa from the Communists since 1951. The association said it plans to set up new aid stations this year along the rim of Red China at Hong Kong, the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu and other points.

Will Ask That U. S. Pay Revolution Note

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., July 10 (AP)—A Saratoga Springs businessman says he will ask the Federal government to pay off a 10-pound Revolutionary War note he claims is now valued at a million dollars.

The Adirondack Trust Co. of Saratoga Springs had presented the 1777 note and a claim for the million to the issuing state—Massachusetts—on behalf of Percy W. Dake.

Massachusetts passed.

Dake says he is trying to dramatize how a small amount of money can grow with compound interest over a long period of time.

After Massachusetts' Attorney General George Fingold ruled that the state treasurer had no authority to redeem the note, Dake said he would ask the U. S. government to pay up.

He said the Federal government had assumed in 1790 the outstanding obligations of Massachusetts.

The annual growth in world population has increased from about 20 to about 40 million a year in the past 20 years.

Her bouffant skirt featured an apron effect of lace over cascading tiers of tulle and terminated in a brush train. Her French illusion fingertip veil was secured to a Princess crown lavishly embroidered with seed pearls and iridescent sequins. Miss Schraudner carried white gladioli and pompons.

Mrs. Rita McTague of Brook-

TO MY OWNER

I am your piano speaking to you, my owner.

That buzz you heard on certain notes wasn't any fault inside me. Know what it is? Well, your floor, like most floors, isn't perfectly level and my right front caster is hanging free and not touching anything. It will buzz with certain notes and if you move it, it will probably buzz with other notes or even maybe not at all. The best thing to do though is to put a wedge under my loose caster. Jimmy Winters told me about that. I came from his showroom you know, at 117 Clinton Avenue.—Adv.

Troy Features Figure Flattering Clothes; McCardell Introduces 'Carpetbagger Coat'

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Women's Editor
New York, July 10 (AP) — That long-stemmed American beauty also has a short waist, says designer Hannah Troy, who has been measuring customers all over the country to arrive at her new sizing, shown today to some 250 members of the nation's fashion press.

"At least half of the women in the country don't fit into regular sizes," says high-handed Hannah. They have long legs, but their waists are shorter, so that when they buy a ready-made dress they have to spend half again the original price on alterations.

So, going by her statistics, Mrs. Troy shows half her collection in the new shorter-waisted proportions, and all of it in what she calls the "well-shaped look"—carefully curved and constructed clothes built to flatter the feminine figure, whatever its size. She clings for the most part to the sheath silhouette, but softens it with drapery, floating panels and other devices to forestall austerity.

Claire McCardell, high priestess of the casual look, manages to give her offhanded outfits a new look of elegance this year, by subtle variations in cut, by use of luxurious fabrics and by highlighting a series of dinner-at-home gowns dramatizing the "Empress Josephine Look." These are long and flowing outfits falling loose and free from a sash or belt just below the bust, presented in such lush fabrics as heavy satin, brocade and jersey sparked with gold or silver threads.

More in her usual breezy manner is her "carpetbagger coat," in cotton print with wool fleece lining, fastened in front with three buckles and worn, if you like, with matching skirt and coordinated blouse.

Paul Parnes shows a wide range of sleek, sophisticated and new-looking suits and costumes featuring hipbone jackets and slim skirts or sheaths, in fabrics running the gamut from fur-trimmed satiny broadcloths to featherweight tweeds. These are the well-bred, feminine outfits beloved by American clubwomen, and slated for innumerable luncheon-and-bridge appearances next fall and winter.

CANCELLED EUROPEAN TRIP

A daughter tells me: "My father's sudden death cancelled my European trip. I had been sent a number of going-away gifts which I still have. Should these be returned?"

Under ordinary circumstances you would keep them in the hope of going on the journey in the not-too-distant future. On the other hand, if the plans of your ever going are very slim, you return anything of intrinsic value.

Unreproachable Reputation
Dear Mrs. Post: Would a widow in her late sixties, who lives alone in a large house in the country, be subjected to criticism if she rented a room to a widower about her own age? This man has been a life-long friend of the family.

Answer: If she has always been known as a well-behaved person, no one in the world will criticize her.

Setting a Dinner Date

Dear Mrs. Post: Very often when I invite friends to dinner it so happens that they cannot come at that particular time, and instead of letting me telephone them later when I please they usually ask me to set another time. Please tell me a way of handling such a situation without injuring feelings.

Answer: It is easy enough to say that you are sorry, but that you can't say at the moment what night you'll be free. Don't go into any explanations which will entangle you, but just say you'll telephone them soon.

When Secretary Enters

Dear Mrs. Post: When talking to a man in his office and there is a brief interruption by the entrance of his secretary or any other woman in the company, is a visiting man supposed to stand?

Answer: If he is introduced to her, yes. If she merely hands her employer some papers or speaks briefly to him, it is best not to add to the interruption.

Have you wondered what to serve for a formal dinner, a buffet lunch or supper? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. However, her leaflet E-25, "Menus for Every Occasion," will help you. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

They say, "Man works from sun to sun, but woman's work is never done." Well, ladies (if you'll pardon me)—as a mere man—I can't agree. Take the average bread winner "John Doe" and watch him hustle to and fro... He dashes for the 6:05 and is he breathless?—man alive! Now, he must stand upon his feet amid the factory's roar and heat. He toils eight hours by the clock and does not earn a mighty "sock." For, with deductions taken out he wonders what it's all about. Arriving home at 6:05, John Doe is seldom half alive. His wife exclaims, "I'm simply beat! I couldn't cook in all this heat. We're eating out, John. Do you hear?" And John Doe answers, "Yes, my dear."—Karl Flaster.

Courtesy to women is not always an indication of unselfishness.
Flames poured from the smoke-blackened windows, and the crowd below gasped with astonishment as they saw a hefty fireman emerge from a window carrying a woman in his arms.
But as the gallant man stepped onto the ladder and attempted to descend, he slipped and fell to the ground. The wom-

A doctor hastened to the scene.
Doctor (to fireman)—You're a very brave fellow!
Fireman—Brave, begorra, but no gentleman, or I'd 'a' let the woman go first!

What's going to become of the next generation? asks an acquaintance. Well, we'll tell you. They'll grow up, get a job, fall in love, get married, have children, and start worrying about what's going to become of the next generation.

IBM Leases Two Buildings Here

International Business Machines Corporation has announced the lease of two buildings formerly occupied by Sprague Electric Company at 165-183 Cornell street. The property, consisting of two industrial buildings containing approximately 55,000 square feet of floor space, has been leased from Michael and Frieda Pauker, the present owners.

This additional space has been acquired by IBM for the purpose of expanding its Military Products Division operations in Kingston. It is expected that occupancy of these buildings will start during the months of July and August.

Rosendale Carnival

Rosendale, July 10—Rosendale Volunteer Fire Company will conduct a benefit carnival Friday and Saturday night at the end of school lane off Main street. There will be rides for children, and the usual booths, plus refreshments by the ladies auxiliary. Rain caused the firemen to cancel the carnival two nights last week. Local residents are urged to attend the carnival this weekend to help out the volunteer firemen.

Kachura Elected By Ulster Hose; 7 Get Diplomas

Election of Nicholas W. Kachura as new financial secretary of Ulster Hose Company No. 5 and the awarding of diplomas to seven members who recently passed fire police school examinations featured Monday night's regular semi-monthly meeting.

Kachura succeeds Paul Stevenson, regularly elected secretary, who resigned.

AWARDED diplomas were: Richard Lowe, Roy Bream, Chief Harry Lowe, Martin Petersen, LeRoy Thomas, Gerald Woodvine and Emil Weiland. Ulster Hose firemen also adopted a selected movie program for boys and girls of the township, a softball program for members of the volunteer hose company and made plans for the ninth annual August Fair.

Permission for the showing of movies in the firehouse was granted after Supervisor Percy Bush made the appeal. He said that movies will be shown Saturday night at the firehouse during July and August with the Sullivan Sound Service of Yonkers in charge.

It was announced that the company had purchased equipment to form a company softball team under the supervision of Nicholas Kachura. Wednesday nights were designated for softball.

THIS YEAR'S fair has been scheduled for Aug. 8, 9, 10 and 11 and plans already are underway to make it one of the best shows on record.

Joseph Senor, chairman of the parade committee, said that Ulster Hose and its auxiliary will take part in the annual Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association parade in New Paltz Saturday, July 28. Members who plan to parade are requested to meet at the firehouse in uniform and be ready to leave at 3:45 p. m. The parade will get underway at 5 p. m.

During Monday's meeting the company also voted to have its grounds in front of the fire company blacktopped and also to install storm and screen windows.

Flatbush Church Offers Outdoor Film Showings

A series of outdoor movies will again be presented during July and August by Flatbush Reformed Church on Thursday evenings beginning at dusk.

In the event of unfavorable weather the films will be shown in the church hall. The entire community is invited.

The titles scheduled are as follows: July 12, the Iroquois Trail; July 19, The Return of Monte Cristo; July 26, Rusty Saves a Life; Aug. 2, General Spanky; Aug. 9, Four Faces West; Aug. 16, Saturday's Hero; Aug. 23, Miss Grant Takes Richmond and Aug. 30, Rogues of Sherwood Forest (Technicolor), the Robin Hood story.

Air Force Reserve Opportunities To Be Explained

Pay, promotion and liberal retirement benefits that can be obtained through participation in the Air Force Reserve will be explained to former servicemen in the New Paltz area, Wednesday, July 18. The meeting, open to interested former servicemen of all branches, will get underway promptly at 8 p. m., at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall, New Paltz.

Representatives from the 9059th Air Reserve Group, Newburgh, commanded by Lt. Col. Richard W. Platt, will outline the training program and benefits available to reservists, including maintenance of skills, for training assemblies, paid two-week active duty tours, free insurance, liberal retirement pay, promotion and numerous other benefits.

Current plans of the 9059th Air Reserve Group call for establishment of a training flight to meet regularly in the New Paltz area. Similar flights, which meet on the average of two evenings a month for training and pay are now organized at Newburgh, Kingston, Poughkeepsie and Goshen.

Prior service personnel from any branch of the service may enroll in the grade held at the time of discharge. Certain personnel who have achieved additional qualifications may enroll in a higher grade. In order to determine the rank in which they may enlist veterans are requested to bring all available service records.

Promotion comes rapidly to reservists who participate in the program and there are additional opportunities for appointment to commissioned and warrant status for especially well qualified men.

Holstein Owners Are Invited to Orange Fair Show

The fifth annual "Black and White" show of the Ulster, Sullivan, Orange Holstein Club will be held at the Orange County Fair Grounds in Middletown Friday, Aug. 3, beginning at 10 a. m.

All club members and owners of registered Holsteins, whether they are club members or not, are invited to enter from one to five animals at the show. Entries are requested early so that adequate plans can be made according to the size of the show. Change in entries will be permitted later on.

Accommodations at the grounds will supply cattle and exhibitors with shelter in the event of bad weather. The Ridge Raisers 4-H Club will provide light lunches and refreshments on the grounds.

All 4-H and FFA members are also invited to participate in the show and a small fee will be charged this year per animal for all junior showmen.

Police Hunt Weapons Stolen From Store

Batavia, N. Y., July 10 (AP)—Police in both the United States and Canada are watching for signs of a small arsenal of weapons stolen over the weekend from a Batavia sporting goods store.

Missing are about $5,000 worth of rifles, pistols and ammunition. Store proprietor Donald Liberia said he reported the theft to state police Saturday morning but police withheld the news until yesterday pending preliminary investigation.

The thieves broke a window in the store and Liberia said a dozen rifles, 40 to 60 pistols and revolvers, a large supply of ammunition and $75 in cash were stolen.

Meet 53rd Time

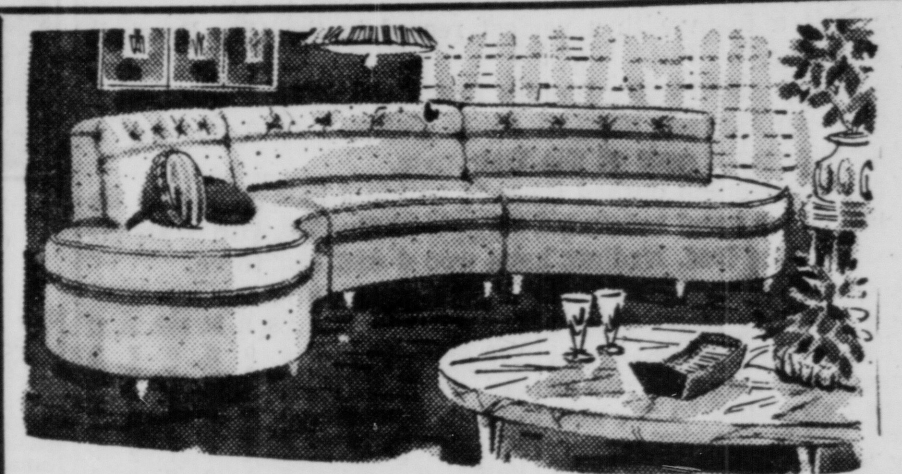

Geneva, Switzerland, July 10 (AP)—Ambassadors of the United States and Communist China held their 53rd meeting today and agreed to talk again on July 26. U. Alexis Johnson of the United States and Wang Ping-Nan of Red China have been meeting regularly since August 1, 1955, to discuss "matters at issue" between the two sides. The two ambassadors talked for 75 minutes today but as usual made no statement. The two items on their agenda concern the release of American civilians imprisoned in China and a Red Chinese renunciation of the use of force against the nationalists.

Nadlers Check Jones Streak, 3-0, on Ferraro's 4-Hitter

Dairymen Are Dropped To Tie With Watzkas

There isn't a team with a perfect record in the City Baseball League anymore.

Jim Ferraro and Nadler Motors took care of that little item yesterday when Ferraro blanked Jones Dairy, 3 to 0, to snap a four-game winning streak of the Dairymen.

The Nadler triumph pushed them to within a half game of a tie for the league lead and bracketed Jones at the top with Watzkas at 4 wins and one loss. Nadlers have won 4 and lost three.

Extra curricular activities like the New York-New Jersey League and the Poughkeepsie City League contrived to reduce the Jones Dairy staff to one man — Bruce "Red" Hinkley.

Rusty but ready, Hinkley gave it a good try but the way Ferraro pitched it is doubtful if any of the Jones aces could have taken him yesterday.

THE NADLER right hander permitted only four hits. He experienced only one close call, when the Dairymen got the first two men on base in the third but he escaped without damage and breezed the rest of the way. Phil Gatti, Jones right fielder, bashed a pair of singles.

Bob Bondar went "3 for 3" all singles to pace Nadlers seventh hit attack on Hinkley. It wasn't particularly overpowering — seven singles — but it sufficed for the day and the win.

Single markers in the third, fourth and seventh accounted for the Nadler runs. Two of them were knocked in by Frank Seboto.

Bob Bondar's single, a sacrifice by Ferraro and Seboto's single to right sent Nadlers ahead, 1-0, in the third.

GIANNUZZI was safe on Nippy Jones' boot in the fourth, stole second and rode home on Bondar's singleton.

The Nadler tally in the seventh was the result of Bill Haber's walk, singles by Ferraro and Bondar and Seboto's sacrifice fly.

Doblers play the Saugerties Whiz Kids in today's game at the Athletic Field.

Lane Scores

Upset Over Dupas

New Orleans, July 10 (AP) — Michigan's Kenny Lane said today he was ready to pit his puzzling southpaw style against "the best in the division" after an upset victory over second-ranked lightweight contender Ralph Dupas of New Orleans.

The muscular Lane probably earned a spot among the division's top 10 with his 10-round showing against the stylish Dupas last night. He ran up a top-heavy margin in the early rounds and nullified Dupas' speed in the late rounds with superior punching power.

Dupas opened the first round faster than usual but slackened during the middle rounds while Lane worked on his misdirection with ripping rights and an occasional left hand shot to the head.

Dupas went all out in the tenth and opened a cut over Lane's right eye. But the attack was too late to salvage the decision.

The verdict was split. Judge Phil Gaffney and referee Pete Giaruso voted for Lane and Judge Eddie (Kid) Wolfe for Dupas.

Dupas outweighed Lane a quarter of a pound at 139.

Mc Beath Fires 69

South, West Set Pace In Public Links Play

San Francisco, July 10 (AP) — The South and West set the pace today as the 31st annual Amateur Public Links championships went into the second and crucial round of qualifying play.

With Californian Scotty McBeath of Palo Alto holding a one-stroke lead among the individuals and the Memphis, Tenn., team ahead of the field, the play today determines the team championship and which 64 golfers will enter tomorrow's match play.

McBeath, 34, a sporting goods salesman who does most of his golfing on the weekends, fired a three-under-par 69 over the Harding Park course yesterday.

The 15th to complete his round among the 150 public course players entered, he saw his top spot hold up.

Tied in second place with 70 were Lt. Dick Stearns of Portland, Ore., the Air Force champion, and Fred Corvi, of San Francisco, an airport bus driver.

Defending champion Sam Kocsis of Detroit soared to a 77 but didn't appear agitated. Kocsis had thought that Harding was not too tough.

The fourth par-breaker over the 36-72 Harding layout of 6,683 yards was Vern Callison, a tavern owner from Sacramento, Calif.

EDDIE AND Shedric McKain, both of Memphis, had 72, along with Daniel Sikes Jr., of Jacksonville, Fla.

The Memphis team, composed of Langert, Gene Frase and Junie Buxbaum had an aggregate of 218 to lead the team play by a fat six strokes with Portland, Ore., second. Frase and Buxbaum both fired first round 73's.

Most figured a 36-hole score of 154 or better after today's 18 would make the match play rounds.

Veteran Andy Szwedko of Sharpsburg, Pa., who won the Publink in 1939 and has played in 18 of them, was along with Kocsis with a 77.

CYO Forfeit Game

St. Peter's of Rosendale B forfeited to St. Mary's Saturday in the CYO Midget Baseball League. St. Mary's heads the circuit having lost only one game.

Las Vegas, Nev.—Red Top Davis, 138, Hartford, Conn., won a split decision over Rudy Jordan, 135, Los Angeles, 10.

Locals Booked For Three Games Within Week

Mains Probable Dutchmen Starter

The meat and potatoes part of the Colonial baseball schedule in the New York - New Jersey League starts Wednesday night with a game against the Saugerties Dutchmen at Dietz Stadium.

Manager Fred Davi's tossers, unhappy about a double loss over the weekend, face a rebounding Saugerties squad that snapped a five-game losing streak Sunday with a 6-2 decision over Nyack.

SATURDAY night the crack Paterson Generals invade Dietz Stadium and the following afternoon the Colonials trek to Cantine Field for a second battle with the Dutchmen.

Three big ball games and Frank "Spec" Shea, the ex-Yankee, figures to pitch in one of them.

The Colonials had Shea in uniform over the weekend but the erstwhile Rookie of the Year confined his activities to coaching and a wasted pinch single at Poughkeepsie.

There has been nothing wrong with the Colonial pitching. The three games the locals lost were toughies that couldn't be blamed on the hurling corps.

SHEA WOULD appear to be the logical choice against the Paterson squad Saturday night, with Bruce Bechtold, Bob Maines or Jim Mackey getting the call against Saugerties.

Renni Giannuzzi, the Kingston High school pitching star, is the probable Saugerties starter in Wednesday's game. Unless, of course, Manager Jack Rivenberg elects to go with Clark Mains in both clashes.

Mains was impressive in his win over Nyack, removing any doubts about a "sore arm." That report, circulated before the game, could have been the hoax of the year.

Murdock Fourth In Driver Race

Bill Murdock of Kingston ranks fourth in the point standing race among stock car drivers competing at Victory Speedways in Middletown.

The local chauffeur picked up some valuable ground last Saturday night finishing third in the first feature race to run his point total to 103. Larry Shurtel of West Shokan is a notch above Murdock with 112 points.

Charlie South of Mac Affe, N. J. and veteran Bud Meara of Pine Bush are waging a heated battle for the No. 1 spot. South currently leads with 138 points to Meara's 132.

Meara took honors Saturday night winning both features. Sonny Strupp of South Plainfield, N. J. wound up runnerup each time.

In the motorcycle races Sunday at the half-mile oval, Al Wilcox of Trenton took the Class "A" race and Dick Bettencourt of Brockton, Mass., the "B" derby.

Stock car racing is again slated for Saturday evening at the Middletown track. July 20 has been set for midget car racing starting at 8:30 p. m.

Stockton, Calif. — Tommy Romulo, 137½, Philippines, knocked out Billy Beal, 133, Oakland, Calif., in 2.49 of the third round in a scheduled 10.

Caracas, Venezuela — Sonny Leon, 126½, Venezuela, stopped Jimmy Cooper, 123½, Washington, D. C., in the eighth round of scheduled 10.

USTA Reserves Decision on Appeal By Driver

Buffalo, N. Y., July 10 (AP) — Decision has been reserved by judges of District 9, United States Trotting Assn. on the appeal of Levi Harner, who was fined June 23 by judges at nearby Buffalo Raceway.

The judges heard the appeal yesterday.

Harner, from Bloomsburg, Pa., paid a $250 fine on a charge that he failed to maintain a reasonable rate of speed while driving Zenith Hanover during the fourth race on June 23.

He denied the charge, arguing that he had won the race, and appealed to the USTA.

The USTA, however, cannot reverse the decision, which was handed down by the New York State Harness Racing Commission, but can order it struck from its own records.

Harner has not appealed to the State Commission.
